

James Blair is an Instructor of Criminal Justice at South Texas College. He is currently based at the Mid-Valley Campus in Weslaco, but also teaches at the Pecan Campus in McAllen on occasion. He spent the past 3 years at the Starr County Campus in Rio Grande City.

Blair earned an Associate of Applied Science in Criminal Justice from Central Texas College, followed by an Associate of Arts in Business Administration. He then completed a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice with a minor in Business Administration at the Central Texas campus of Tarleton State University (now Texas A&M University Central Texas), followed by a Masters of Criminal Justice. Areas of interest include ethics, comparative and historical criminal justice, terrorism, and juveniles. He is currently a member of SWACJ and ACJS.

His professional experience includes working as a Case Manager (both Institutional and Security) for the Texas Youth Commission during some of the most turbulent periods in the history of that agency. He has also worked in secondary education in a dyslexia program.

Blair currently serves on the high council for his area's congregations, and is actively involved with the Boy Scouts of America. He currently serves as a "troubleshooter" and advisor for scout units sponsored by congregations in his area and has played a significant role in starting or revitalizing several units in the past five years. He is a Brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow and is a "Three-Beader" Wood Badge graduate.
