

Lorie Rubenser is currently professor and Graduate Coordinator for the Criminal Justice Department at Sul Ross State University. Dr. Rubenser has served on the Executive Council of the Faculty Assembly in various capacities for 8 years and is currently in her second term as Chair.

Dr. Rubenser's research interests include policing issues and minority issues in criminal justice. She currently serves as the President of the Southwestern Association of Criminal Justice. For the last 8 years, Dr. Rubenser was also Co-Editor of the Police Forum publication of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences Police Section featuring research articles and other items of interest relating to policing.